Team Code Blooded's Final Project Proposal

Members: John Coffelt, Raul Ramirez, Michael Rose

Our team will be developing a pet adoption website. This site will feature all pets available for adoption. All pets that are available for adoption are from a single pet shelter. Each customer will have the ability to browse through the pet inventory. Filters will be made available for customers seeking specific pets. Once customers have selected their pet or pets, they will be required to go through an application process that will ensure they are good candidates for adoption. Website admins will be able to add new pets as they become available as well as updating and removing pets from the site as needed.

About Us

This site is for educational purposes only.

It was created for the California State University of Monterey Bay as part of the online CS program.

This site was a collaboration between Raul Ramirez, Michael Rose, and John Coffelt.

Please note that none of the pets on this site are actually for sale. This is a project for a college course.
